Description

The experience begins with a transfer from Puebla to Tehuacán, a region considered the cradle of maize and one of the most important places to understand human evolution and biodiversity in the Americas. This is followed by a visit to Zapotitlán Salinas and the Botanical Garden of the Biosphere Reserve, home to impressive columnar cacti.

Later, you will visit a traditional mezcal distillery where you will learn about the mezcal production process and enjoy a tasting. The experience concludes with a biotour inside the Biosphere Reserve, a guided walk where you will observe unique desert landscapes, marine fossils, and ancient geological formations—closing a day full of knowledge, nature, and deep connection with the environment.
