Description

The day begins with a transfer to Tlatlauquitepec, a Magical Town surrounded by mountains, mist, and green landscapes. Upon arrival, you will have free time for breakfast before starting the hike to Puxtla Waterfall, an impressive waterfall surrounded by lush vegetation and considered one of the most iconic natural sites in the region. After the hike, we return to the town center for a cultural visit, where you will explore the Zócalo, learn about local community life, and visit the Museum and House of Culture. The experience is complemented by a tasting of traditional regional liqueurs. In the afternoon, we head to Cerro Cabezón, one of the natural and spiritual symbols of Tlatlauquitepec. We will take a light hike to enjoy panoramic views of the mountains before beginning the return to Puebla. A journey that blends nature, culture, and connection with the mountain environment.
